Storm, in a cafe, answers a question about "what's Wolverine really like?

STORM

You wanna know about Wolverine?
Well he's kind of a jerk. And not in a cool way. It's like... he does all these little, obnoxious things all the time that really get under your skin. Like he doesn't ever pay for groceries but my god does he feel entitled to your yogurt or milk, which, by the way, he drinks straight the carton. He NEVER cleans the common room but then will call meetings where he's like "guys have you noticed that it's getting a little messy around here? Everyone should do there part." And I'm like "Are you kidding me! You never clean!
Ever!" You know, its one thing to be the messy guy, but then to have the audacity to call a meeting and blame other people for being messy!
Ah! So frustrating! He doesn't tip. Ever. He's mean to babies.
Oh, and when we go out to Karaoke, he sings nothing but songs that are like 8 minutes long. EVERY TIME.
And he knows he's doing it. He's like "oh, maybe Bohemian Rhapsody again." And it's like "that goes on forever and your tone deaf!
Why?!?" He's a lazy, inconsiderate.... uh. He's the worst. God I wish I was an Avenger. I've asked to be transferred like 6 times but... it's really hard to get into.
The X-Men are a mess. Technically we're a University but there's a whole bunch of issues because we're a school for mutants. Doing your taxes as an X-Man is a nightmare.
Every year. You can't write off anything it's just... anyway.
Wolverine... sucks. He sucks.
